INTRODUCTION

The Richard Gilder Graduate School (“RGGS”) of the American Museum of Natural History (the “Museum”)¹ is committed to fostering an environment that is free from gender-based discrimination and harassment, including sexual assault and all other forms of gender-based misconduct. RGGS recognizes its responsibility to increase awareness of such misconduct, prevent its occurrence, diligently investigate reports of misconduct, support victims, and deal fairly and firmly with those who violate this Policy.

Through this Gender-Based Misconduct Policy and accompanying Procedures, RGGS defines gender-based misconduct and sets forth its procedures for addressing gender-based misconduct involving RGGS students (“students”). The Policy and Procedures are designed to reflect a commitment to a safe and non-discriminatory educational environment, consistent with guidance issued by the White House Task force to protect Students from Sexual Assault and the U.S. Department of Education’s Office for Civil Rights, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and the New York State Education Law Article 129-A and -B.

Here are several important points about gender-based misconduct that the Policy addresses:

- Gender-based misconduct comprises a broad range of behaviors focused on sex and/or gender that may or may not be sexual in nature.

- Sexual harassment, sexual assault, sexual exploitation, gender-based harassment, stalking, domestic violence, and dating violence are all forms of gender-based misconduct, among others.

- Gender-based misconduct can occur between strangers, acquaintances, or people who know each other well, including between people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship.

- Gender-based misconduct can be committed by anyone regardless of gender identity, and it can occur between people of the same or different sex or gender.

RGGS does not tolerate any form of gender-based misconduct. Students who experience gender-based misconduct can bring complaints through the process set out below. Those found responsible will be sanctioned in accordance with this Policy. Students who experience gender-based misconduct may also be able to pursue criminal and civil processes, in addition to or instead of the process under this Policy.

This Policy and accompanying Procedures are part of a multifaceted approach toward eliminating gender-based misconduct in our community. This approach includes: (1) training programs; (2) services and resources for those affected by gender-based misconduct; (3) accessible, prompt, and fair methods of investigation and resolution of reports of misconduct; and (4) protections designed to prevent against recurrence.

The Policy first specifies prohibited conduct. It then describes available resources and reporting options, and explains whether and to what extent reports are confidential. Finally, the Policy discusses measures and accommodations that may be available in particular cases to support and assist students. The Procedures spell out the investigation and sanctioning process for matters in which students are involved as Complainants (persons who make an allegation(s) of gender-based misconduct) or Respondents (persons alleged to have committed gender-based misconduct), as well as the rights of students in connection with the process. The very last section includes the New York State Student’s Bill of Rights and a comprehensive listing of resources available to students affected by gender-based misconduct, including phone numbers, locations and websites.

Nothing in the Policy or the Procedures shall be construed to abridge academic freedom and inquiry, principles of free speech, or RGGS’s educational mission.

SCOPE OF THE POLICY AND PROCEDURES
This Policy governs gender-based misconduct allegations by or against graduate students enrolled in RGGS or studying at RGGS through its university partnership programs and undergraduates enrolled in the RGGS’ academic and research programs. It applies to incidents that: (1) occur on the RGGS/Museum premises or in connection with any RGGS or Museum sponsored programs or activities; or (2) create a hostile environment for students at RGGS or in RGGS/Museum sponsored programs or activities, even if the incident giving rise to such a hostile environment occurred off-campus and/or at a non-Museum or non-Museum sponsored event.

This Policy and the Procedures govern incidents where either or both of the Complainant and the Respondent are students. The Museum has separate policies and procedures that apply to pre-K-12 students in Museum education programs, as well as to reports of sexual misconduct that do not involve students as Complainants or Respondents.

This Policy pertains to any reports made after January 1, 2016, regardless of when the incident occurred. The Policy applies regardless of a person’s gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, age, race, nationality, class status, religion, pregnancy, predisposing genetic characteristics, military status, criminal convictions, domestic violence status, familial status, or other protected status. It applies equally to all faculty appointments, including tenured and non-tenured, to all union and non-union employees and staff, and others associated with the Museum.

The Museum’s Department of Human Resources has overall responsibility for the Policy and Procedures and has been designated as the institutional Compliance Office for Title IX, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, and other equal opportunity, nondiscrimination and affirmative action laws. The Vice President of Human Resources heads the Department of Human Resources and is designated as the institution’s Title IX Coordinator and Compliance Officer for Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. The Department of Human Resources may designate other offices or employees to perform any roles or duties described in the Policy or Procedures.

The Museum also has other policies on harassment, violence and gender-based misconduct involving faculty, staff and other individuals working at or with the Museum, available here. Additionally, the Museum has separate policies of standards of conduct and safety that apply to Museum staff and mentors with regard to pre-K-12 and undergraduate participants in education programs and for ad hoc interns and those in regular internship programs, available here.

Employees, students, and third parties may contact Human Resources to inquire about their rights under RGGS and Museum policies, request assistance, seek information about filing a complaint, or report conduct or behavior that may violate these policies. The contact information for Human Resources can be found after the Procedures at the end of this document.

GENDER-BASED MISCONDUCT POLICY (“POLICY”)

PROHIBITED CONDUCT
Gender-based misconduct includes a broad range of behaviors focused on sex and/or gender that may or may not be sexual in nature. This misconduct can occur between strangers or acquaintances, or people who know each other well, including between people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship, can be committed by anyone regardless of gender identity, and can occur between people of the same or different sex or gender. One form of prohibited conduct can occur separately from or simultaneously with another form of prohibited conduct.

Definitions of Gender-Based Misconduct

- Sexual Assault. Sexual assault is actual or attempted sexual contact with another person without that person’s consent. Sexual assault includes, but is not limited to: (i) Intentional touching of another person’s intimate parts without that person’s consent; or (ii) Other intentional sexual contact with another person without that person’s consent; or (iii) Coercing, forcing, or attempting to coerce or force a person to touch another person’s intimate parts without that person’s consent; or (iv) Rape, which is penetration, no matter how slight, of (1) the vagina or anus of a person by any body part of another person or by an object, or (2) the mouth of a person by a sex organ of another person, without that person’s consent.
- Affirmative Consent. Affirmative consent is a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity.

  - Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions express willingness to engage in the sexual contact or activity. It is important not to make assumptions. If there is confusion or ambiguity, participants in sexual activity need to stop and verbally clarify each person’s willingness to continue.
  - Consent cannot be procured by the use of physical force, compulsion, threats, intimidating behavior, coercion, or from a person who is incapacitated (as defined below).
  - Consent to one form of sexual activity does not imply consent to other forms of sexual activity.
  - Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another person.
  - Silence or the lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. Again, it is important not to make assumptions; if confusion or ambiguity arises during a sexual interaction, it is essential that each participant stops and verbally clarifies the other’s willingness to continue engaging in the sexual contact or activity.
  - Consent may be initially given, but can be withdrawn at any time. When consent is withdrawn or can no longer be given, sexual activity must stop.
  - Previous relationships or previous consent for sexual activity is not consent to sexual activity on a different occasion.
  - The definition of consent does not vary based upon a participant’s sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression or relationship status.

- Force. Force refers to the use of physical violence and/or imposing on someone physically to gain sexual access. Force can also include threats, intimidation (implied threats), or coercion used to overcome resistance.

  - Intimidation. Any threat of violence or other threatening behavior directed toward another person or group that reasonably leads the target(s) to fear for their physical, academic or professional well-being or to engage in sexual conduct for self-protection.
  - Coercion. Coercion is verbal and/or physical conduct, including manipulation, intimidation, unwanted contact, and express or implied threats of physical, emotional, or other harm, that would reasonably place an individual in fear of immediate or future harm and that is used to compel someone to engage in sexual contact.

- Incapacitation. Incapacitation occurs when an individual lacks the ability to knowingly choose to participate in sexual activity. A person who is incapacitated cannot make a rational, reasonable decision because the person lacks the ability to understand his or her decision.

  - Incapacitation may be associated with a person’s lacking consciousness; being asleep; being involuntarily restrained; having a disability that impedes consent; or if an individual otherwise cannot consent due to other forms of helplessness.
    - Under New York State law, a person under the age of 17 lacks the capacity to give consent to sexual activity.

  - Depending on the degree of intoxication, someone who is under the influence of alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicants may be incapacitated and therefore unable to consent.

How drugs and alcohol affect consent:

- The impact of alcohol and other drugs varies from person to person. Warning signs that a person may be incapacitated or approaching incapacitation as a result of alcohol or drug use may include, but are not limited to slurred or incomprehensible speech, vomiting, unsteady gait, combativeness, or emotional volatility.
- Individuals should be aware of, and carefully consider, the potential consequences of the use of alcohol or drugs. Alcohol and drugs can lower inhibitions and create an atmosphere of confusion over whether consent is freely and affirmatively given.

- Whether sexual activity with an incapacitated person constitutes gender-based misconduct may depend on whether the Respondent knew or should have known of the Complainant’s incapacitation, based on objectively and reasonably apparent indications when viewed from the perspective of a sober, reasonable person in the Respondent’s position.
- Being intoxicated, impaired, or incapacitated by alcohol or other drugs is never an excuse for committing a Policy violation and does not diminish anyone’s responsibility to obtain informed and freely given consent.
The use of alcohol or other drugs does not make someone at fault for experiencing gender-based misconduct.

- Domestic Violence. The use of physical violence, coercion, threats, intimidation, isolation, stalking, or other forms of emotional, psychological, sexual, technological, or economic abuse directed toward (1) a current or former spouse or intimate partner; (2) a person with whom one shares a child; or (3) anyone who is protected from the Respondent’s acts under the domestic or family violence laws of New York. This includes behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, Humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, coerce, threaten, or physically injure someone. Domestic violence can be a single act or a pattern of behavior in relationships.

- Dating Violence. The use of physical violence, coercion, threats, intimidation, isolation, stalking, or other forms of emotional, psychological, sexual, technological, or economic abuse directed toward a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or sexually intimate nature with the victim. This includes behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, coerce, threaten, or physically injure someone. Dating violence can be a single act or a pattern of behavior in relationships.

- Sexual Exploitation. Non-consensual abuse or exploitation of another person’s sexuality for the purpose of sexual gratification, financial gain, personal benefit or advantage, or any other illicit purpose. Examples of sexual exploitation may include, but are not limited to: sexual activity or allowing another to observe nudity or sexual activity without the knowledge and affirmative consent of all participants; streaming of images, photography, video, or audio recording of sexual activity or nudity, or distribution of such without the knowledge and affirmative consent of all participants; exposing one’s genitals in non-consensual circumstances; and inducing incapacitation for the purpose of making another person vulnerable to non-consensual sexual activity.

- Stalking. A course of unwanted attention that is repeated or obsessive, directed toward an individual or a group and that is reasonably likely to cause alarm, fear or substantial emotional distress. Stalking may take many forms, including lying in wait for, monitoring, and/or pursuing contact. Stalking may occur in person or through communications such as telephone calls, text messages, unwanted gifts, letters, e-mails, surveillance, or other types of observation.

- Sexual Harassment. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual contact, and other verbal, physical, or visual conduct of a sexual nature constitutes sexual harassment when:
Submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual’s academic, co-curricular, or campus life activities

Submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic or student life decisions affecting that individual

Such conduct has the effect of unreasonably interfering with another person’s academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, or offensive campus environment

- Gender-based Harassment. Acts of aggression, intimidation, stalking, or hostility based on gender or gender stereotyping constitute gender-based harassment. Gender-based harassment can occur if students are harassed, or harass others, either for exhibiting what is perceived as a stereotypical characteristic of their sex or for failing to conform to stereotypical notions of masculinity or femininity. To constitute harassment, the conduct must unreasonably interfere with another person’s education or participation in educational programs or activities or create an intimidating, hostile, demeaning, or offensive academic or work environment. Here are some examples of conduct that could constitute gender-based misconduct under the definitions above:
  - Coercion for a date or a romantic or intimate relationship
  - Unwelcome kissing, hugging, or other forms of physical contact, such as touching or massaging
  - Use of unwanted force in connection with sexual activity or attempted sexual activity
  - Sexual contact with a person who has not consented
  - Unwelcome remarks about a person’s genitals, including breasts
  - Belittling remarks about a person’s gender or sexual orientation based on gender stereotypes
  - Video recording or photographing of a person or activity of a sexual or private nature without the consent of the person(s) being video recorded or photographed
  - Dissemination of information regarding the sexual activity of another person verbally (orally or in writing), digitally or by graffiti
  - Use of e-mail, the Internet, or other forms of digital media to facilitate any of the conduct listed above

- Hostile Environment. A hostile environment may arise when unwelcome conduct of a sexual or gender-based nature affects a student’s or other’s ability to participate in or benefit from an education program or activity, or creates an intimidating, threatening, or abusive educational or work environment. A single, isolated incident of sexual or gender-based harassment may, based on the facts and circumstances, create a hostile environment.
In evaluating a hostile environment, RGGS will consider the totality of the known circumstances, including but not limited to:

- The frequency, nature and severity of the conduct
- Whether the conduct was physically threatening
- The effect of the conduct on the Complainant’s mental or emotional state
- Whether the conduct was directed at more than one person
- Whether the conduct arose in the context of other discriminatory conduct
- Whether the conduct interfered with the Complainant’s educational or work performance in RGGS or Museum programs or activities

Retaliation. Any adverse action or threatened action, taken or made, personally or through a third party, against someone who has filed a gender-based misconduct complaint (a Complainant) or has been the subject of a gender-based misconduct complaint (a Respondent) or any other individual who engages with HR in connection with this Policy and Procedures.

- All individuals and groups of individuals, not just a Respondent or Complainant, are prohibited from engaging in retaliation.
- Retaliation includes threatening, intimidating, harassing, or any other conduct that would discourage a reasonable person from engaging in activity protected under this Policy, such as seeking services; receiving protective measures and accommodations; reporting gender-based misconduct; and/or participating in an investigation or adjudication.
- Retaliation includes maliciously and purposefully interfering with, threatening, or damaging the academic or professional career of another individual, before, during or after the investigation and resolution of a report of gender-based misconduct under this Policy.
- The protections against retaliation apply to reports made or information provided in good faith, even if the facts alleged in the report are determined not to be accurate. Retaliation may be found even when the underlying charge does not constitute a violation of Museum or RGGS policies.

POLICY ON CONSENSUAL RELATIONSHIPS
Consensual sexual relationships between those in positions of authority over students or staff can compromise the work environment. Such relationships, even if consented to, are potentially exploitative because of the imbalance of power inherent in the relationships. They raise concerns such as conflict of interest and fairness of treatment to the student involved and/or other students, and they present potential legal liability for the Museum as an institution and potential personal liability for the individual in the position of authority.

No member of the Museum community shall request or accept sexual favors from, engage in a romantic or sexual relationship with, or have any sexual contact with any student, intern or mentee at the undergraduate level or below in any general education or internship program at the Museum, whether or not such favors, relationship or contact are consensual. Further, no member of the Museum community shall request or accept sexual favors from, engage in a romantic or sexual relationship with, or have any sexual contact with any graduate student, intern or mentee who is enrolled in a course taught by that member of the Museum community or who is otherwise subject to that individual’s academic supervision. Academic supervision includes teaching, academic advising, committee membership for a thesis, dissertation or any other RGGS committee, supervising research or educational activities, grading and mentoring.

RGGS graduate and undergraduate students with concerns about compliance by others with this Policy, including perceived instances of favoritism on the basis of consensual intimate relationships, may report their concerns to the Dean of RGGS, RGGS Director of Administration or the Director(s) of the MAT Program. Staff with concerns about compliance by others may report to Human Resources.

In accordance with the Museum’s policy on professional conduct in the workplace, individuals may not have sex on Museum premises.

RESOURCES
RGGS encourages all individuals affected by gender-based misconduct to seek immediate assistance. Seeking assistance promptly may be important to ensure a student’s or other Complainant’s physical safety or to obtain medical care, emotional support, or other support; it may also be necessary to preserve evidence, which can assist RGGS and/or law enforcement in responding effectively. Assistance is available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. The Resources listed at the end of this document provides contact information for RGGS and community resources available to help.

Reporting Gender-Based Misconduct and Confidentiality
RGGS encourages individuals to report gender-based misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator (as identified below) so that he or she can investigate and respond effectively. Individuals may meet with the Title IX Coordinator to learn more about the process before making a report. RGGS respects the privacy of those reporting sexual misconduct and participating in the process. Individuals should be able to seek the assistance they need without fear that the information they provide will be shared more broadly. Federal and state laws, however, impose reporting obligations on certain employees, including certain RGGS faculty and Museum staff that, in some circumstances, can require those personnel to share information from a report of gender-based misconduct with law enforcement, the Title IX Coordinator, the Department of Security and Safety, or others.

Notification of Rights at the Time of First Disclosure

At the first instance of disclosure by a reporting individual to a “non-confidential” institution representative, the following information shall be presented to the reporting individual:

> “You have the right to make a report to the Department of Public Safety, local law enforcement, or State Police or choose not to report; to report the incident to the Museum; to be protected by the Museum from retaliation for reporting an incident; and to receive assistance and resources from the Museum.”

Even when the recipient of a report of gender-based misconduct has an obligation to report to others (and are “non-confidential” under this Policy), such individuals will endeavor to protect and respect the reporting individuals’ privacy to the greatest extent possible and share information only on a need-to-know basis. The information provided to a non-confidential resource will be relayed only as necessary to investigate and/or seek a resolution.

RGGS has designated Student Affairs Facilitator(s) of the Ph.D. Comparative Biology and MAT programs as resources for students. The Student Affairs Facilitator(s) are not, however, licensed counselors or confidential resources. Students in need of confidential counseling services may use the following resources:

- Rebecca Wemyss Carman, LCSW, is a licensed social worker with experience counseling victims of sexual assault. She can be reached at 917-751-8803 and at www.RebeccaWCarman.com, to schedule an appointment.

- The Crime Victims Treatment Center (the “CVTC”) at Mt. Sinai St. Luke’s Hospital, located at 126 W 60th St, New York, NY 10023, provides free and confidential counseling services and resources. Call 212-523-4728 or visit www.evtnyc.org. The CVTC can help victims of Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, and other crimes get treatment or therapy, report a crime, or seek an order of protection, or access other resources. Additional off-campus advocacy, counseling and health service resources are appended to this Policy.

Title IX Coordinator

The Museum’s Title IX Coordinator (or any Deputy or Assistant Title IX Coordinator assigned to a case) is responsible for overseeing RGGS’s response to Title IX reports and complaints, and identifying and addressing any patterns or systemic problems revealed by such reports and complaints. The Title IX Coordinator oversees the administration of this Policy and the Procedures in a neutral and equitable manner. Contact information for the Title IX Coordinator is in the Resource listing following the Procedures.

The Title IX Coordinator supports and provides assistance to students affected by gender-based misconduct. The Title IX Coordinator does not act as an advocate, but is a neutral resource available to all students. The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for referring students to available resources, offering appropriate protections, and coordinating the process set out in this Policy and Procedures. The Title IX Coordinator can provide support and assistance immediately following an incident involving students and may assist individuals seeking accommodations or interim measures, including cases where a Complainant chooses not to engage in the process or when the Respondent is not affiliated with RGGS or the Museum.

Reporting Gender-Based Misconduct to Law Enforcement

Individuals may, in their discretion, choose to report gender-based misconduct to the New York City Police Department, the Manhattan District Attorney’s Office, or to the local law enforcement agency where the misconduct occurred if the misconduct occurred outside of New York City. The Museum is required to report instances of violent felony offenses occurring on Museum premises to the New York City Police Department, though this can be done on a no-names basis.

The RGGS and criminal justice systems work independently from one another. Law enforcement authorities do not determine whether a violation of this Policy has occurred, and the criminal justice system uses different standards related to proof and evidence. Any questions about whether a specific incident violated the penal law should be addressed to law enforcement. Individuals may consult the chart at the end of this Policy for further information about the differences between the RGGS and criminal processes.

The Office of General Counsel and Human Resources, in consultation with the Director and Deputy Directors of the Department of Security and Safety, and the other resources in the Resources listing are familiar with New York City and New York State law enforcement processes and can explain what happens when gender-based or sexual misconduct is reported to law enforcement.

The Title IX Coordinator can explain how to report sexual assault and other forms of gender-based misconduct to law enforcement, and a manager from the Department of Security and Safety or the Title IX Coordinator can accompany any individual requesting support to the Police Department or District Attorney’s Office. However, these individuals cannot serve as a substitute for legal advice on these matters.
Requesting Confidentiality in Connection With a Report to the Title IX Coordinator

An individual who reports gender-based misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator may request that the Title IX Coordinator not disclose his or her identity to anyone else, including the person who allegedly committed the misconduct. While such a request may limit the ability to investigate and respond to the reported misconduct, the Title IX Coordinator, in consultation with the Museum’s Office of General Counsel, will consider the request in light of the commitment of RGGS to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all students and will honor the request whenever possible. The Title IX Coordinator will promptly notify the individual making the request whether RGGS will be able to honor it.

Whether or not the Title IX Coordinator is able to grant a request to keep the reporting individual’s identity confidential, the Title IX Coordinator will reveal information about investigations and disciplinary proceedings related to gender-based misconduct only to those who need to know in order to carry out their duties and responsibilities. In all cases, the Title IX Coordinator will take appropriate steps designed to counteract the effects of the alleged gender-based misconduct, prevent its recurrence, and make accommodations for the parties involved. This may include academic and work accommodations, increased monitoring, supervision, or security at locations or in connection with activities where the alleged misconduct occurred, and training and educational materials for the campus community. If there is reason for concern about possible retaliation or harm, the Title IX Coordinator will take protective measures in consultation with the affected parties.

Accommodations and Interim Measures

RGGS or the Museum can provide accommodations and impose interim measures after a report has been filed.

The Title IX Coordinator will work with all individuals affected by gender-based misconduct to ensure their safety and promote their well-being. Sometimes this assistance will take the form of appropriate accommodations intended to provide support and relief.

Accommodations

A Complainant may request accommodations even in cases where an investigation is not undertaken or either party has declined to participate in the RGGS disciplinary proceeding or the criminal process. Complainants may also request a prompt and reasonable review of the need for and terms of any accommodation that directly affects them and may submit evidence in support of their request. Requests for review of the accommodations shall be submitted in writing to the Title IX Coordinator.
The Title IX Coordinator will evaluate any request for accommodations (including a Complainant’s request for review of the terms of any accommodation directly affecting them) in light of the circumstances and information available at the time of the request. If requested accommodations cannot be granted, the Title IX Coordinator (following review by the Office of General Counsel) will provide an explanation, in writing, to the Complainant.

Accommodations may include, but are not limited to

- Adjusting Complainant’s work schedule, location or reporting relationship for employment
- Changing a student’s academic schedule
- Allowing a student to withdraw from or retake a class without penalty
- Providing access to tutoring or other academic support

Interim Measures

A Complainant who has experienced gender-based misconduct may also be entitled to obtain remedies under applicable law, such as an order of protection. The Title IX Coordinator and the Museum’s Department of Security and Safety can assist a Complainant in contacting law enforcement or legal service organizations to learn about these remedies.

RGGS may also take action through directives (known as “interim measures”) to ensure the safety of all parties involved and to protect the integrity of a pending investigation or disciplinary process.

Interim measures include, but are not limited to:

- “No contact” directives
- Restricting a Respondent’s access to Museum buildings and/or Museum activities
- Temporarily suspending a Respondent from the Museum
- Temporarily suspending a Respondent from specified activities

Failure to comply with interim measures or other directives is a violation of this Policy and may lead to disciplinary action as described in this Policy.

Following the report of an incident, the Title IX Coordinator will provide written notice to the individuals involved in the incident, describing any necessary interim measures and the accommodations and resources available to them. The Title IX Coordinator and RGGS will provide notice about these measures and accommodations only to those who need to know in order to make them effective.
Complainants or Respondents may request a prompt and reasonable review of the need for and terms of any interim measure that directly affects them and may submit evidence in support of their request. Requests for review of the interim measure shall be submitted in writing to the Title IX Coordinator within 15 days.

Other Information About Reporting
RGGS does not limit the time for submitting a report of gender-based misconduct. However, the ability to investigate and respond effectively may be reduced with the passage of time. Further, this Policy and Procedure will not apply when the Respondent is no longer a student or no longer an employee or otherwise no longer affiliated with RGGS or the Museum.

In cases where gender-based misconduct is reported to the Title IX Coordinator by someone other than the individual who was subjected to the alleged misconduct (for example, a faculty member, or friend), the Title IX Coordinator will promptly notify the affected individual that a report has been received. This Policy and the Procedures will apply in the same manner as if the affected individual had made the initial report. The Title IX Coordinator will make every effort to meet with the affected individual to discuss available options and on-campus and off-campus resources. Reports from anonymous sources will be treated in a similar fashion.

Student Amnesty for Alcohol and/or Drug Use
The health and safety of every student at RGGS is of utmost importance. Students who have been drinking and/or using drugs (whether such use is voluntary or involuntary) at the time that violence, including but not limited to domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, or sexual assault, occurs, may be hesitant to report such incidents due to fear of potential consequences for their own conduct. RGGS strongly encourages students to report domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, sexual assault or other gender-based misconduct involving members of the RGGS and/or Museum community to RGGS officials. Accordingly, RGGS has adopted the following policy:

A student or Museum employee (including a bystander), acting in good faith, who discloses any incident of gender-based misconduct to an RGGS or Museum employee or law enforcement will not be subject to disciplinary action for their own violations of alcohol and/or drug policies occurring at or near the time of the gender-based misconduct.

The Title IX Coordinator will, if possible, investigate reports of incidents affecting students that involve persons who are not members of the RGGS community or whose identity is not known and take appropriate actions to protect affected students and others in the RGGS and Museum community. In addition, the Title IX Coordinator will assist those students in identifying appropriate Museum and other resources.
RGGS supports public awareness events and other forums. These activities help inform the need for community-wide education and prevention efforts. The disclosure of incidents of gender-based misconduct at such events or forums is not considered a report to the Museum for purposes of triggering an investigation of a particular incident.

PROCEDURES FOR RESPONDING TO COMPLAINTS of GENDER-BASED MISCONDUCT BY AND AGAINST STUDENTS (PROCEDURES)

This section first describes individuals’ rights in the investigation and disciplinary process and other important background information, including about privacy, support persons, and time frames. It then describes the disciplinary process in detail.

RIGHTS OF THE COMPLAINANT AND RESPONDENT

In order to provide accessible, prompt, and fair methods of investigation and resolution of incidents of gender-based misconduct involving students, RGGS has developed a process for investigation and adjudication of misconduct reports. Throughout this process, both the Complainant and the Respondent have the right to:

- Respect, dignity, and sensitivity
- Appropriate support from RGGS
- Privacy to the extent possible consistent with applicable law and RGGS policy
- Information about these Gender-Based Misconduct Policy and Procedures
- The presence of a support person throughout the process
- Participate or to decline to participate in the investigation (however, a decision not to participate in the process either wholly or in part will not prevent the process from proceeding with the information available)
- A prompt and thorough investigation of the allegations
- Adequate time to review documents in the Title IX Coordinator’s office following the investigation
- An opportunity to challenge investigator(s) and Review Panel for a possible conflict of interest
- Refrain from making self-incriminating statements
- An appeal of any sanctions
- Notification, in writing, of the case resolution, including the outcome of any appeal
- Report the incident to law enforcement at any time
- Understand that information collected in the process may be subpoenaed in criminal or civil proceedings.

A handout that lists these rights will be provided to both the Complainant and the Respondent, along with the NYS Student’s Bill of Rights, during each individual’s initial meeting with the Title IX Coordinator.

Privacy
Information about the investigation and resolution of gender-based misconduct involving students will be revealed only to those who need to know the information in order to carry out their duties and responsibilities. RGGS will inform all individuals participating in an investigation or proceeding that they are expected to maintain the privacy of the process. This does not prohibit either a Complainant or Respondent from obtaining the assistance of family members, counselors, therapists, clergy, doctors, attorneys, or similar resources.

Support Persons
The Complainant and the Respondent, respectively, may be accompanied to any meeting by the support person of their choice throughout the course of case management, investigation, resolution, and the appeal process. Witnesses or others involved in the investigation are not permitted to bring another person to any meeting.

Support persons may provide advice during an investigation and throughout the process. Although individual parties are not required to bring their support person to all meetings, they are expected to maintain the same, single support person throughout the process unless there are extenuating circumstances that require them to obtain a replacement. This use of a single, consistent support person enables the process to move forward in an efficient fashion. In the event that an individual party wants to make a permanent change to their support person, they must provide written notice in advance to the Title IX Coordinator.

During meetings, the support person may talk quietly with the individual or pass notes in a non-disruptive manner. The support person may not intervene in a meeting or address the investigator or any panel members, including by giving evidence, questioning witnesses or making objections. While support persons may provide guidance and assistance, all written submissions must be authored and signed by the Complainant or Respondent personally.
All Museum administrators, including the Title IX Coordinator, will communicate directly with the Complainant and Respondent, rather than with the support person. It is the Complainant’s/Respondent’s responsibility to communicate with their support person, including but not limited to information related to scheduling and process updates.

Support persons will be expected to sign an agreement to comply with the guidelines just discussed. If a support person fails to abide by such guidelines, he/she may be prohibited from attending ongoing or future meetings.

A Complainant or Respondent may choose to have an attorney serve as his or her support person. Individual parties may retain counsel independently, but RGGS/the Museum will not arrange or pay for an attorney- support person to represent a Complainant or Respondent.

Declining to Participate

The Title IX Coordinator will make multiple efforts to engage the participation of the Complainant and/or Respondent in the process; however, either party may decline to participate in any step of this process, including the investigation and/or any subsequent appeal. Declining to schedule a meeting with investigators or refusal to respond to contact by the Title IX Coordinator may preclude or limit participation in later stages of the process, as explained below. Silence or a decision not to participate will not be treated as a negative factor in the investigation, resolution, or appeal.

The process may continue without the Complainant’s and/or Respondent’s participation. A refusal to participate during the investigation stage of the process will preclude a Complainant or Respondent from submitting new information absent extraordinary circumstances; however, the Complainant or Respondent may submit an impact statement at the sanctioning stage, if applicable, without regard to earlier participation in the process. Even if a party declines to participate, the Title IX Coordinator will continue to update each party throughout the process, unless a party submits a written request to the Title IX Coordinator to cease contact with them.

Notice

The Title IX Coordinator will provide notification (“notice”) in writing to both the Complainant and Respondent at many points in the process, depending on the stage of the process and needs of each individual party. Notification from the Title IX Coordinator will be sent via e-mail and may include information, such as: a written explanation of the alleged policy violation(s), Complainants’ and Respondents’ rights and options, interim measures, available accommodations, initiation of an investigation, and the range of possible sanctions or other actions. The Title IX Coordinator will also ensure that the Complainant and Respondent are updated throughout the investigative process, including with timely notice of meetings in which either or both the Complainant and the Respondent may participate.

Conflicts of Interest
Any individual participating in the investigation, Review Panel or appeal is required to disclose to the Title IX Coordinator any potential or actual conflict of interest. If a Complainant or Respondent believes that any individual involved in the process has a conflict of interest, he or she may make a request to the Title IX Coordinator that the individual not participate. If the Title IX Coordinator determines that a conflict of interest exists, the Title IX Coordinator will take steps to address the conflict in order to facilitate an impartial process.

Informal Resolution
The Title IX Coordinator may seek to resolve certain cases of gender-based misconduct involving students through an informal alternate-resolution process involving both the Complainant and the Respondent. (For example, the Complainant and the Respondent may agree with the Title IX Coordinator that education, training, and a no-contact directive are an appropriate and sufficient response in a particular case). At any time after a report has been filed, either party may request alternate resolution to resolve the issue. This disposition requires agreement of the Complainant and the Respondent, with the approval of the Title IX Coordinator. If the Title IX Coordinator approves such a request, the investigation and the time frames will be stayed, and the Title IX Coordinator will take appropriate steps to assist in reaching a resolution. If the parties cannot reach an informal resolution within two weeks after one is proposed, the investigation will resume in accordance with the Policy. If an agreement acceptable to all parties is reached through informal resolution, the matter is considered closed and the terms will be implemented. Informal resolution will not be used for cases involving allegations of sexual assault; in those cases, the investigation and resolution process will be used.

INVESTIGATION AND RESOLUTION PROCESS

The Title IX Coordinator is charged with investigating reports of violations of this Policy. During the investigation, the Complainant and the Respondent have an opportunity to make statements, present witnesses and provide other evidence. Because every case is different, the Title IX Coordinator will tailor each investigation to the specific facts of the case while maintaining for all parties a meaningful opportunity to be heard.

Initial Assessment of Complaints (Pre-investigation)
The Title IX Coordinator initiates the investigative process when he/she receives a complaint or report of a violation of this Policy and there is adequate information to pursue an investigation. The Title IX
Coordinator will conduct an initial assessment and may take any of the following actions:

- The Title IX Coordinator may dismiss the complaint if he/she determines that the complaint does not allege facts that, if substantiated, would constitute a violation of the Policy
- The Title IX Coordinator may refer the complaint to another office for review if it determines that the complaint is outside the scope of this Policy
- The Title IX Coordinator will determine appropriate interim measures, facilitate accommodations, and initiate an investigation if it determines that the complaint or report would, if substantiated, constitute a violation of the Policy

Investigation

The Title IX Coordinator will notify the Complainant and the Respondent, in writing, when a report has been filed and an investigation will proceed. The notice will describe the allegations in the report and include a scheduled date and time for the Complainant and the Respondent to meet separately with the Title IX Coordinator. The Complainant and the Respondent must respond, confirming receipt of the notice and scheduled meeting time, within 2 days of receiving this notice. Requests to postpone meetings and interviews may be granted, provided that the request is based on a compelling reason, and where possible, Complainants and Respondents should request a postponement at least 24 hours before the scheduled meeting or interview.

During any meeting and/or interview, the Complainant and Respondent may bring a support person to provide advice and assistance. If the Complainant, Respondent, or support person is unable to be physically present for any stage of the investigative process, reasonable accommodations will be made for their participation by other means, when reasonably feasible (e.g., by teleconference).

The process for responding to, investigating and resolving reports of gender-based misconduct involving students will ordinarily continue during any law enforcement proceeding. The Title IX Coordinator may need to temporarily delay an investigation while law enforcement officers are gathering evidence, generally no longer than ten days, except when law enforcement specifically requests and justifies a longer delay. The Title IX Coordinator will resume the investigation after learning that law enforcement no longer requires a delay or has completed the evidence-gathering stage of their investigation. The Title IX Coordinator will not wait for the conclusion of any related criminal proceeding.

Complainant Requests Not to Investigate

The Title IX Coordinator will inform the Complainant before starting an investigation and the Complainant may request that an investigation not be undertaken. The Title IX Coordinator, in consultation with the Office of General Counsel, will consider such a request in light of RGGS’s commitment to provide a safe and non-discriminatory educational environment and weigh the following factors including, without limitation:

- Circumstances that suggest there is a risk of the Respondent committing additional acts of gender-based misconduct, such as:
  - Whether there have been other gender-based misconduct complaints and/or escalation of previously known conduct by the same Respondent
  - Whether the Respondent has threatened further gender-based misconduct against the Complainant or others
  - Circumstances that suggest there is an increased risk of similar future acts of gender-based misconduct
- Whether the alleged gender-based misconduct was committed by multiple perpetrators
- Whether there was use of a weapon or force in connection with the gender-based misconduct
- Whether the Museum possesses other means to obtain relevant evidence, such as security cameras, witnesses and/or physical evidence
- If the Complainant is under 17 years old

If the Title IX Coordinator determines not to investigate, he/she will notify the Complainant in writing, including that the determination not to investigate was made at the Complainant’s request. At the Complainant’s written request, the Title IX Coordinator will also notify the Respondent in writing, including that the Complainant asked the Museum not to investigate.

Investigation Procedures
The Title IX Coordinator may investigate the complaint or may designate an investigator (“the investigator”) from within the Museum or from an outside investigation firm to conduct an investigation into whether a violation of the Policy occurred. The investigator will have extensive training in investigating and evaluating conduct prohibited under the Policy. The investigator will be impartial and unbiased.

Each party will meet separately with the investigator. At the initial meeting, the investigator will discuss with each party the nature of the allegations, the rights and responsibilities of each party, the prohibition against retaliation, and the resolution process. The Complainant, the Respondent, support persons, and all witnesses will be required to agree in writing not to engage in retaliation against any participant in the process and not to record, electronically capture or photograph any person or conversation related to this investigation process.

The investigator will ask each party to provide a list of witnesses and/or any relevant documents or evidence. The investigator has the discretion to determine the relevance of any proffered evidence and determine that certain types of evidence should be included or excluded in the determination of responsibility. The Complainant and Respondent must provide to the investigator any relevant and available evidence they wish to be included.

The following protocols apply throughout the investigative process:

- Statements. All parties and witnesses are obligated to be honest and act in good faith. Any person who knowingly makes a false statement in connection with the investigation may be subject to separate disciplinary action.

- Preserving Evidence. The investigator will direct the Complainant, Respondent, witnesses, and other pertinent individuals to preserve any relevant evidence. Examples include, but are not limited to, electronic messages (e.g., e-mails, text messages and social media messages, writings and photographs).

- Witnesses. The Complainant and the Respondent have the right to identify any individuals who may be witnesses to the conduct alleged. The parties should be aware that it is possible for both the Respondent and the Complainant to list the same people as witnesses. Any attempt to threaten, intimidate or otherwise improperly influence the testimony of a witness may result in a disciplinary or other action. The investigator will attempt to contact and interview any witnesses identified by the parties and any other witness the investigator deems to have relevant information. The investigator will not interview witnesses whose sole purpose is to provide character information.

- Romantic or Sexual History in Sexual Assault Cases. The investigator will not consider information concerning the romantic or sexual history of either the Complainant or the Respondent with other people. Either the Complainant or the Respondent may provide information regarding their shared romantic or sexual history. If either offers such information, the other will be notified and have the right to respond.

- Mental Health Treatment/Diagnosis. Each party has the right to request that evidence regarding his or her mental health diagnosis and/or treatment be excluded from consideration when responsibility is being determined.
Prior Conduct Violations. In investigating complaints of gender-based misconduct, prior reports or determinations of responsibility for such misconduct may be considered.

Credibility Assessment. The investigator will use the following factors when assessing the credibility of parties and the witnesses: the consistency or inconsistency of their accounts of events over time; their demeanor during interviews; their possible motivation to lie; any corroborating evidence; and whether their statements included specific details that were reasonable and logical.

Review of Statement. Prior to the conclusion of the investigation, the Complainant and Respondent will each have an opportunity to review the investigator’s written recitation of the statements he or she presented during his or her own interview(s) and to provide the investigator with any corrections or clarifications that may be necessary. The investigator will determine if the corrections or clarifications to the witness statements will be incorporated.

Impact Statement. The Complainant may submit a statement of impact to the Title IX Coordinator, which will be considered by the Title IX Coordinator in connection with determining an appropriate sanction in the event there is a finding of responsibility.

Investigation Findings and Report
Following the completion of the investigation, the investigator will prepare a written investigation report. The report will clearly set forth the prohibited conduct alleged and will include summaries of all witness interviews and any documentary or physical evidence identified. The report will further provide the investigator’s findings, an assessment of the credibility of the parties and witnesses where appropriate, an assessment of whether it is more likely than not that the prohibited conduct occurred and the evidentiary basis or rationale for that assessment, as well as a recommended determination as to whether the respondent is responsible for the violation.

Determination of Responsibility and Discipline
The investigator’s report and recommendation regarding whether the Policy was violated will be submitted to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator will assess the information contained in the investigator’s report, conduct any further inquiry he/she may deem necessary and then make a determination using the preponderance of the evidence standard regarding whether it is more likely than not that a Policy violation occurred. If the Title IX Coordinator finds the Respondent responsible for violating the Policy, he/she shall determine the appropriate disciplinary sanction after considering the relevant factors, which include the severity of the violation, in cases of sexual assault, the circumstances surrounding the lack of consent (such as force, threat, coercion, intentional incapacitation, etc.), the Respondent’s state of mind (intentional, knowing, reckless, negligent, etc.), the Respondent’s history of misconduct, including prior findings of sexual misconduct, the ongoing impact on the Complainant, the ongoing impact on the RGGS environment, and any ongoing threat to the RGGS or Museum community. In determining the appropriate sanction, the Title IX Coordinator should consult with the Dean of RGGS or the Director(s) of the MAT program, as appropriate.

Impact Statement
Complainants and Respondents can submit impact statements to the Vice President of Human Resources while he or she is considering appropriate sanctions.

The Title IX Coordinator will provide both the Complainant and the Respondent with written notice of the determination and the rationale for such determination simultaneously and within five calendar days of receipt of the investigator’s report and recommendation. In cases of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and/or stalking, the Complainant and the Respondent will be informed simultaneously and in writing of any sanctions imposed and the rationale for such sanction and the complainant will only be informed of discipline to the extent such sanctions relate to the Complainant.

How Sanctions Are Determined

In determining a sanction, the Title IX Coordinator will impose sanctions that are:

- Fair and appropriate, given the facts of the particular case
- Consistent with the Museum’s handling of similar cases
- Adequate to protect the safety of the campus community
- Reflective of the seriousness of gender-based misconduct.

In determining an appropriate sanction, the Title IX Coordinator will take into account the following considerations:

- The specific gender-based misconduct at issue (such as penetration, touching under clothing, touching over clothing, unauthorized recording, etc.);
- The circumstances accompanying the lack of consent (such as force, threat, coercion, intentional incapacitation, etc.);
- The Respondent’s state of mind (intentional, knowing, bias-motivated, reckless, negligent, etc.);
• The impact of the offense on the Complainant;
• The Respondent’s prior disciplinary history;
• The safety of the Museum community;
• The Respondent’s candor in responding to the complaint; and
• Any other mitigating or aggravating circumstances in order to reach a just and appropriate resolution in each case.

The Title IX Coordinator will also identify permanent remedies that seek to address the effects of the conduct on the Complainant, restore the Complainant's safety and well-being, and protect the Complainant's educational and employment opportunities. Such remedies should restore to the Complainant, to the extent possible, all benefits and opportunities lost as a result of the prohibited conduct. Permanent remedies may include extending or making permanent any interim measures.

Possible sanctions are one or more of the following:

• Reprimand/warning
• Changing the Respondent’s academic schedule and responsibilities
• Disciplinary probation
• Revocation of honors or awards
• Restricting access to Museum or RGGS facilities, resources or activities (including student activities and campus organizations)
• Removal from leadership/supervisory positions within the Museum community
• Issuing a “no contact” order to the Respondent or requiring that such an order remain in place
• Expulsion
• Revocation of degree
• Termination or suspension of program registration, financial support, or academic or professional appointment
• Termination or suspension from Museum or RGGS employment

In addition to any other sanction (except where the sanction is expulsion or revocation of a degree), a Respondent determined to be responsible for a violation of the Policy may be required to receive appropriate education and/or training related to the gender-based misconduct at issue. Counseling or other support services for the Respondent may be recommended.
When a student is found responsible, and the sanction includes suspension or expulsion, the student may be either severely restricted in their movements on the Museum premises or barred completely during the entirety of the appeal-filing period and appeal process. If a Respondent is eligible for return to RGGS while a Complainant is still enrolled, or employed by the Museum/RGGS, the Complainant will, at the earliest possible date, be notified in writing of the Respondent’s intention to return.

In addition, pending an investigation, a determination and/or appeal, an “administrative hold” may be placed on the student Respondent’s RGGS transcript, diploma, registration, fellowship or other payments, and/or student account until this process is resolved. Upon conclusion of the appeal, if any, a permanent transcript notation will be indicated on the record for cases resulting in suspension or expulsion. If a student is found responsible through this process for crime(s) of violence, including, but not limited to sexual violence, defined as crimes that meet the reporting requirements pursuant to the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act (the a “Clery Crime of Violence”), the Dean of RGGS or the Director(s) of MAT will direct that a notation be placed on the student’s transcript as follows:

- Where the sanction is a suspension, the following notation will be listed: “SUSPENDED AFTER A FINDING OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR A CODE OF CONDUCT VIOLATION.”
- Where the sanction is expulsion, the following notation will be listed: “EXPELLED AFTER A FINDING OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR A CODE OF CONDUCT VIOLATION.”

If a student respondent withdraws from RGGS while such charges are pending for allegation(s) related to Clery Crimes of Violence and the student declines to complete the student conduct process, the Dean of RGGS or Director(s) of MAT will direct that the following notation be placed on the student’s transcript: “WITHDREW WITH CONDUCT CHARGES PENDING.”

- Those students who withdraw from RGGS and decline to complete the student conduct process forfeit any right to resume the conduct proceedings at any point in the future.
- Conduct charges are considered “pending” once a student is informed in writing that there are allegations that the student may have violated the Policy.

Notice of Outcome
The Title IX Coordinator will inform the Complainant and the Respondent simultaneously and in writing of the outcome of the complaint (i.e., the determination regarding whether the alleged conduct occurred and whether it was a violation of this Policy) and the procedures and the time frame for the Complainant and the Respondent to request appeal. The Title IX Coordinator will also inform the Complainant regarding individual remedies offered or provided to the Complainant or any sanctions imposed on the Respondent that directly relate to the Complainant, as well as other steps the Museum/RGGS has taken or will take to eliminate the hostile environment, if one was found to exist, and prevent recurrence. The Complainant and Respondent will be notified of any sanctions imposed, but not of the individual remedies offered or provided to the Complainant to the extent they are different from those sanctions.

The Title IX Coordinator will also inform other RGGS and Museum officials with a legitimate interest.

Appeals²

Either the Complainant or the Respondent may, within seven (7) calendar days of receiving notice of the decision and sanctions, request an appeal by submitting to the Title IX Coordinator a letter stating why the party requesting the appeal believes the finding of noncompliance with this Policy or the sanction should be set aside. The Title IX Coordinator will designate a Museum official (“Appeal Officer”) to consider each request for review and to oversee the appeal process. The Appeal Officer shall be selected from among the Senior Vice Presidents responsible for the unit in which the Respondent is a student or a staff member.

The Appeal Officer will decide in his or her sole discretion whether the request states one of the allowable grounds for review. If the Appeal Officer decides that the request states an allowable ground for review, he/she will notify the parties that the request will be considered and invite the other party to submit, within seven (7) calendar days, a statement and supporting materials in response to the submission of the party requesting review. During that time, both the Complainant and the Respondent will have an opportunity to review the investigation report thoroughly (redacted to remove the names and personally identifying information of other students, as required by law), but copies of the report will not be provided to them. In order to initiate an appeal, the appealing party must submit a formal letter of appeal specifying the grounds upon which the appeal is based, explaining how those grounds materially affected the outcome, and providing supporting information to the Appeal Officer. A party may only request review on the following grounds:

- That the investigator or the Title IX Coordinator committed procedural error which materially prejudiced the party requesting review's case;
- That the Title IX Coordinator’s decision should be reconsidered because of newly

² If the Respondent is a tenured faculty member and the sanction is termination, the appeal shall be heard by the Provost and if affirmed by the Provost, the sanction shall be subject to the termination procedures set forth in the Policy to Govern the Conditions of Employment, Service and Responsibilities of the Scientific Staff. If the appeal is by a union member, it shall be addressed as provided in the union contract.

discovered information that was not reasonably available to the party requesting review during the investigation and which would likely have affected either the finding of responsibility or the sanction imposed had it been available; or

- That the sanction imposed is excessive, insufficient, or inappropriate.

A request for review must set forth in reasonable detail the grounds for review, and must have attached to it all materials that the party requesting review wishes to have considered. The Title IX Coordinator will provide a copy of the request for review to the other party.

The Appeal Officer shall consult with the Title IX Coordinator and Office of General Counsel concerning the request for review. The Appeal Officer may also consult with the investigator.

In addition, the Appeal Officer will designate a panel of no fewer than three (3) individuals who have been trained to hear appeals under this Policy and who were not involved in the original decision or investigation to serve as the Appeal Panel in the matter and will forward the appeal to the Appeal Panel for review, including the investigative report, the letter requesting the appeal and any statements or other supporting materials submitted in response by the non-appealing party. The Appeal Panel may conduct such proceedings as it deems appropriate, but will not normally hear the testimony of witnesses. The Appeal Panel will render a written decision within 20 business days of the Title IX Coordinator’s initial receipt of the appeal, and will forward it to the Title IX Coordinator. The Appeal Panel may affirm the Title IX Coordinator’s findings, reverse them, or remand (return) the matter for further consideration by the Title IX Coordinator. If the matter is remanded to the Title IX Coordinator, the Appeal Officer, on behalf of the Appeal Panel, will provide corrective suggestions with the remand/referral. The Appeal Panel’s decision will be in writing and, except in the case of a remand/referral, is final.

A Respondent found responsible for violation of this Policy, and for whom the sanction of suspension or dismissal from RGGS or termination of employment at the Museum has been imposed, may be required to leave RGGS during the time the appeal is pending. This decision will be made by the Dean of the RGGS or the Director of the MAT Program, as applicable, in the case of a student Respondent and by the Title IX Coordinator in the case of an employee Respondent.

In the event of a remand, the Review Panel, as appropriate, may conduct such further proceedings as they deem appropriate under the circumstances, consistent with this Policy, provided that the Complainant and Respondent will each be given an equal chance to present and review new evidence. Appeal of decisions after remand may be requested by either party under the above procedure.

Time Frames

RGGS will seek to resolve every report of gender-based misconduct within approximately sixty (60) calendar days of an initial report, not counting any appeal. This time frame may be extended for Informal Resolution and/or good cause as necessary to ensure the integrity and completeness of this process. The reasons for extension of the time frame also include, but are not limited, to: compliance with a request by law enforcement; accommodation of the availability of witnesses; accounting for exam periods, school breaks or vacations; and/or accounting for complexities of a specific case, including the number of witnesses and volume of information provided by the parties. The Title IX Coordinator will notify the parties in writing of the extensions of the time frame.

Generally, the timeline will be as follows (calculated in calendar days). To the extent a deadline is calculated in calendar days and falls on a weekend or Museum holiday, the deadline will be effective on the next business day:

- Investigation will commence within 5 days and be completed within 21 days after the investigation begins
- Investigative report on the outcome of the complaint will be completed within 10 days after the investigation concludes
- Appeals are due from either party within 7 days after the investigative report
- Review and response to an appeal is due within 5 days after the notice of appeal is issued to the Complainant and Respondent
- Decision by the Appeal Officer is due within 15 days after the notice of appeal

Each of these stages is explained in greater detail below. The Title IX Coordinator will provide both parties with periodic updates.

Ongoing Accommodations for Complainant

Whatever the outcome of the process, a Complainant may request ongoing or additional accommodations, and the Title IX Coordinator, in consultation with the appropriate administrator of RGGS, will determine whether such measures are appropriate. Potential accommodations include:

- Providing a security escort for the Complainant on Museum premises
- Changing the Complainant’s academic schedule
- Adjusting the Complainant’s work schedule
- Allowing the Complainant to withdraw from or retake a class without penalty
- Providing access to tutoring or other academic support, such as extra time to complete or re-take a class or complete other academic requirements
Additional Responses

The Museum may also determine that additional measures are appropriate to respond to the effects of an incident on the Museum community. Additional responses for the benefit of the Museum community may include:

- Increased monitoring, supervision, or security at locations or activities where the misconduct occurred
- Additional training and educational materials for students, employees and other members of the Museum community
- Revision of the Museum’s policies on gender-based misconduct
- Climate surveys regarding gender-based misconduct

Records Disclosure

Disciplinary proceedings with regard to a student are subject to the Family Educational Records and Privacy Act (FERPA), a federal law governing the privacy of student information. FERPA generally limits disclosure of student information outside the Museum without the student’s consent, but it does provide for release of student disciplinary information without a student’s consent in certain circumstances.

Any information gathered in the course of an investigation may be subpoenaed by law enforcement authorities as part of a parallel or subsequent investigation into the same conduct, or required to be produced through other compulsory legal processes.

Additional information about FERPA can be found in the RGGS Comparative Biology Ph.D. Program and MAT Program Student Handbooks.

Amendments

This Policy and/or the Procedures may be amended from time to time. Nothing in the Policy or Procedures shall affect the inherent authority of the Museum to take such actions as it deems appropriate to further the educational mission or to protect the safety and security of the Museum’s community.
NEW YORK STATE STUDENT’S BILL OF RIGHTS

New York State law requires that all institutions of higher education in New York publish the following Bill of Rights for all students attending higher education institutions in the State.

All students have the right to:

1. Make a report to local law enforcement and/or state police
2. Have disclosures of domestic violence, dating violence, harassment, stalking, sexual exploitation, sexual assault, and retaliation treated seriously
3. Make a decision about whether or not to disclose a crime or violation and participate in the Museum gender-based misconduct process and/or criminal justice process free from pressure by the Museum
4. Participate in a process that is fair, impartial, and provides adequate notice and a meaningful opportunity to be heard
5. Be treated with dignity and to receive from the Museum courteous, fair, and respectful health care and counseling services, where available
6. Be free from any suggestion that the Complainant is at fault when these crimes and violations are committed, or should have acted in a different manner to avoid such crimes or violations
7. Describe the incident to as few Museum representatives as practicable and not be required to unnecessarily repeat a description of the incident
8. Be protected from retaliation by the Museum, any student, the accused and/or the Respondent, and/or their friends, family, and acquaintances within the jurisdiction of the University
9. Access to at least one level of appeal of a determination
10. Be accompanied by a support person of choice who may assist and advise a Complainant, accused, or Respondent through the judicial or conduct process included during all meetings related to such process
11. Exercise civil rights and practice of religion without interference by the investigative, criminal justice or judicial or conduct process of the Museum

| How to report and whether there must be action once a report is made. | Crimes involving sexual violence may be reported to Museum Security, the New York City Police Department, or to the New York State Police. Certain crimes may also be reported to federal law enforcement agents. Once a report is made, the decision whether to investigate is made by the police/law enforcement agency, often in consultation with a District Attorney or other prosecuting agency. An investigation may be conducted without the consent or participation of a reporting individual. The ultimate decision of whether to initiate a criminal prosecution is initially made by a prosecutor. In cases involving felony charges, the final charging decision is made by a Grand Jury. | Victims may disclose sexual violence to various Museum/RGGS employees who will try to ensure privacy to the extent consistent with the institution’s obligation to provide a safe educational environment, as well as the St. Luke’s Crime Victims’ Treatment Center or the licensed social worker with whom the Museum has contracted. Disclosures made to a confidential resource will not trigger an investigation. When a report is made to the Title IX Coordinator (TIXC) or another Non-Confidential resource, the TIXC will determine whether an investigation is necessary by weighing a request for confidentiality by the reporting individual against the continuing safety of that person and the safety and best interests of the campus community. |

| Who investigates? | Police or other law enforcement officials. | Investigators employed or retained by the Museum; these individuals may work for different departments within the institution, including, but not limited to Human Resources. |

| Procedures | See Governing Law. Procedures established by police departments, prosecutors’ offices, etc. | Museum and RGGS policies, which generally incorporate requirements of Governing Law. Collective bargaining agreements may impact some procedures. |

| Standard of Evidence. | Crimes must be proven “Beyond a Reasonable Doubt” | A violation of disciplinary rules must be found by a “Preponderance of the Evidence” (more likely than not) |

| Confidentiality. | Law enforcement agencies offer some confidential assistance, but a criminal charge and trial must be public. | RGGS offers some confidential resources, but a disciplinary proceeding requires that relevant information be shared with those involved. |

| Privacy. | Criminal trials must be public. | Disciplinary proceedings are kept as private as possible, but information must be shared with certain individuals within RGGS, the parties, and pursuant to law. |

| Who are the parties? | The prosecution and defendant. The victim/survivor is not a party, but often the critical witness for the prosecution. | The reporting individual and accused/Respondent. |
| Participation in the process. | In limited circumstances, a criminal prosecution can proceed without the participation or cooperation of the reporting individual, but without a reporting individual’s participation, it is generally more difficult to prove a crime beyond a reasonable doubt. | Reporting students cannot be required to participate in the RGGS process. However, RGGS will be limited in its ability to respond if a reporting individual does not participate. |
|谁发起诉讼过程？ | 一名检察官，代表该州（或美国在联邦案件）。 | 博物馆发起过程（即，调查和任何后续纪律处分程序）。报告人可以扮演一个积极的角色。 |
| 口供。 | 在法庭上，口供通常是公开的。其他当事人有资格通过律师交叉询问证人。 | 学生不需要出庭作证或接受直接交叉询问。他们只能通过评审委员会或代表报告人的律师来要求交叉询问。 |
| 律师的作用。 | 双方都由律师代表；律师可以质询证人。 | 双方一般可以由律师提供意见，但律师的作用仅限于私下与他们的客户交谈或传递笔记。 |
| 心理健康和性历史。 | 在纽约，报告人的性历史和心理健康历史通常不被接受，但在某些情况下，他们可能会被接受。有限的情况下，与案件直接相关的关键证据可能会被采纳。 | 通常不为法庭接受，但受严格限制的例外情况。教育法129-B允许当事人排除与其对方当事人无关的他们自己的性历史和心理疾病证据。 |
| 可能的结果。 | 如果有起诉，被告可能：- 有争议或“无争议”- 由法官驳回案件（因法律原因）- 由法官或陪审团找到“有罪”或“无罪” | 在不涉及性侵犯的情况下，RGGS允许调解或类似的程序，如果当事人同意。如果有一个正式的过程，被调查者可能会被找到“有责任”或“无责任”违反RGGS的规则。被调查者也可能在接受责任之前被被调查者找到。 |
| 处罚。 | 被判定有罪的个人可能会被罚款、监禁，或者两者兼而有之。在某些法庭中，替代处罚有时会使用。 | 被判定对违反RGGS政策负有责任的个人可能会受到一系列的处罚（这将取决于行为的严重程度和其他因素，如之前的司法记录），从警告到暂停或从机构中开除。 |
