

WHAT IS FMT?

ARI GRINSPAN: Fecal microbiota transplantation is the process of transferring somebody else's microbiota into somebody else, ideally to promote the health of the person who's getting the transplant. It is not really a transplant as it is a transfer. So the nomenclature is a little bit off.