Be an Exhibition Explorer! in Petra: Lost City of Stone

Find each artifact pictured in the following pages within the Petra: Lost City of Stone exhibition.

The exhibition Petra: Lost City of Stone relies on a large number of artifacts, or human-made objects. These artifacts are specially assembled, or curated, to tell us a rich story about the ancient Nabataeans and archaeology’s study of culture through material remains.
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?

What is it?

Located in exhibition section:
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?
Why do you think this artifact was placed in this section of the exhibition? What specific aspect of the exhibition "story" does this artifact illustrate or help explain about Petra and the Nabataeans?

Located in exhibition section:

What is it?

[... blank lines for answers ...]