PARTICIPATION IN PROJECTS

1 - REFRESH Project: the project is a multidisciplinary effort including specialists in seven different taxonomic freshwater zoological taxa in South Africa. Its main goal is to define knowledge poor areas and direct and organize these multidisciplinary efforts to sample and barcode the organisms within these areas. As a freshwater fish specialist, I am a member of the freshwater team headed by Albert Chakona, and as part of the managing committee my duties are to communicate with the other researchers, schedule meetings, take notes, look for permits among other activities (November 2021 - present)

2 - Tilapia Project: it is a South African initiative to map and understand the degree of introgression within the native Oreochromis species due to the introduction of the Nile tilapia. The study is moving to its second phase which comprises the use of genomics to assess the introgression within different populations. I am one of the researchers planning and doing the molecular studies (2018- present)
